Encounter in Kishtwar enters 3rd day

JAMMU, Sep 23 (Agencies): The encounter that started between security forces and terrorists at Gurinal village in Jammu and Kashmir's Kishtwar district on September 21 has entered its third day.

The police said on Monday that in continuation of the earlier joint search operation launched by security forces near the Danna Dhar forest area in the upper reaches of Gurinal village firing resumed as contact was established. The firing was exchanged from both sides.

The operation started after a joint team of police and security forces got input about the presence of terrorists in that area.

There have been a series of encounters between terrorists and security forces across Jammu and Kashmir in the recent past in which many terrorists and their commanders have been eliminated. Security forces have also taken casualties.

During the meeting, the leaders interacted with OBC families, listening to their grievances while urging them to vote for Yudhvir Sethi. The speakers emphasized Sethi's extensive service to the community over the past 40 years, asserting that the BJP is the only party working in the nation's interest. Attendees expressed their enthusiasm by raising slogans in support of India and the BJP.

Braham Jyot highlighted the significant changes in Jammu and Kashmir since 2014, attributing the improvements to Prime Minister Narendra Modi's leadership. He remarked on the drastic reduction of terrorism in the region and stated that the BJP's inclusive ideology caters to all segments of society, contrasting it with other parties that focus on specific interests.

He detailed various government schemes benefiting OBCs, urging the community to take full advantage of them. Jyot also discussed major development projects, including highways and railways, emphasizing that these advancements stem from Modi's dynamic vision.

Surinder Sharma reinforced the BJP's commitment to the OBC community, noting the increase in OBC reservation from 2% to 4%. He proclaimed the OBCs as the backbone of the nation, highlighting their significant population and dedication to nationalism. Sharma expressed confidence that the OBC community would rally behind the BJP in the upcoming elections

He characterized the elections as a choice between national interest and anti-national ideologies, asserting that the BJP has consistently acted in the best interest of the country. Sharma cited major accomplishments over the past decade, including surgical strikes, the construction of the Ram Temple, and the abrogation of Article 370, all aimed at integrating Kashmir into the national framework. He concluded by underscoring the importance of voting, particularly from the OBC community, which he said represents their commitment to national development and will ensure a strong mandate for the BJP. Bharat Bushan, the veteran journalist present at the event, echoed these sentiments, calling for the election of candidates who prioritize development and progress for the nation. The meeting concluded with a resounding show of support for Yudhvir Sethi and the BJP, setting a hopeful tone for the upcoming electoral battle

Holding Constitution means nothing without implementation: Khatana

Top News Report

GULABGARH, Sep 23: Senior BJP leader and Rajya Sabha MP Er Gulam Ali Khatana accused the National Conference (NC) and Congress of systematically neglecting the development of Muslimmajority areas.

During a door-to-door campaign in Gulabgarh assembly constituency, Khatana claimed that the two parties have systematically deprived Muslims of their fundamental rights. Mocking Congress leader Rahul Gandhi, Khatana said, "Holding a copy of the Constitution means nothing without its implementation," accusing Gandhi of misleading the Muslim community for political gain.

Khatana highlighted the underdevelopment in villages like Gulabgarh, citing poor road connectivity and a lack of housing under the PMAY scheme, which he attributed to years of NC-Congress rule.

He further charged the opposition with keeping Muslims and Tribals illiterate and marginalized, accusing them of promoting a communal narrative to win votes. In contrast, Khatana praised the BJP government under Prime Minister

Narendra Modi for implementing the Forest Rights Act (FRA) in 2014, which granted significant rights to Tribal communities.

Khatana was accompanied by BJP leaders Chain Singh, Mushtaq Malik, Rashpal Singh, Uma Devi, Poran Singh Chamel Singh, Bakasi Devi, Narinder Kour and many others. The team urged the Muslim community not to be misled by the tactics of NC and Congress.

Earlier on Sunday evening, Khatana addressed a public meeting in Kheri village, rallying support for BJP's Sham Lal Sharma in Jammu North.

Maharaja Hari Singh-last ruling monarch of J&K

Aharaja Hari Singh was the last ruling monarch of the princely state of Jammu and Kashmir in British India. Born on September 23, 1895, into the royal Dogra dynasty, he ascended the throne in 1925 following the death of his uncle, Maharaja Pratap Singh. Hari Singh ruled during a period of intense political and social change in India and played a significant role in the history of Jammu and Kashmir, especially during the crucial time of India's partition in 1947.

Hari Singh was born in Amar Mahal Palace, Jammu, to Raja Amar Singh and Maharani Bhotiali Chib. His father died when Hari Singh was young, and his upbringing was largely overseen by his uncle, Maharaja Pratap Singh. As a child, Hari Singh was educated at the Mayo College in Ajmer, a prestigious institution for Indian royalty, and later in England, which shaped his modern outlook.

When Pratap Singh passed away in 1925 without an heir, Hari Singh was crowned the Maharaja of Jammu and Kashmir. His reign began at a time when the British Empire was on the brink of change, with India's freedom movement gaining momentum and demands for independence growing louder.

Maharaja Hari Singh introduced several administrative reforms during his reign, which reflected his desire to modernize his state. He implemented measures aimed at improving education, healthcare, and the economy. His government also worked on irrigation projects to boost agriculture, the primary occupation of the people in the state. The Maharaja is remembered for creating better infrastructure, such as roads and telecommunication networks, which connected the remote parts of his dominion to the rest of India.

However, his reign was not free from controversy. Hari Singh's policies often attracted opposition from the Muslim majority of the state, particularly over religious and land issues. The political landscape of Jammu and Kashmir was deeply divided along religious lines, with Muslims, Hindus, and Sikhs coexisting but having distinct socio-economic concerns. This led to the rise of Sheikh Abdullah and the formation of the Muslim Conference (later the National Conference), which demanded more rights for the state's Muslim population.

Hari Singh had a complex relationship with the British colonial authorities. As a princely ruler, he owed allegiance to the British Crown but also sought autonomy in managing his state. While he supported the British during World War II, his relations with the Indian National Congress were strained. Hari Singh was a staunch opponent of the Quit India Movement and maintained a distance from the Congress leaders. His inclination toward an independent Jammu and Kashmir put him at odds with both the Congress and the Muslim League. The most significant event of Maharaja Hari Singh's reign came with the partition of British India in 1947, which resulted in the creation of the independent dominions of India and Pakistan. As the ruler of Jammu and Kashmir, a strategically located and religiously diverse princely state, Hari Singh was faced with the difficult decision of whether to accede to India, Pakistan, or remain independent. Initially, Hari Singh attempted to keep Jammu and Kashmir independent. He signed a standstill agreement with Pakistan, hoping to maintain the status quo. However, this plan soon unraveled when tribal militias from Pakistan, supported by the Pakistani military, invaded Kashmir in October 1947. Facing a dire military situation, Hari Singh requested military aid from India, which was provided on the condition that he accede to India. On October 26, 1947, he signed the Instrument of Accession, legally ceding Jammu and Kashmir to India, but with the provision that the state would retain autonomy in certain areas such as defense, communication, and foreign affairs. After the accession, Hari Singh's role in Jammu and Kashmir politics diminished. In 1949, under pressure from both Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru and Sheikh Abdullah, the Maharaja was forced to leave the state and settle in Bombay (now Mumbai). His son, Karan Singh, was appointed as the regent of Jammu and Kashmir. Hari Singh spent the rest of his life in relative obscurity, passing away on April 26, 1961, in Bombay. Maharaja Hari Singh remains a polarizing figure in the history of Jammu and Kashmir. To some, he is remembered as a reformer who modernized the state and stood up to both the British and Indian nationalists. To others, he is seen as an autocratic ruler whose failure to address the aspirations of the Muslim majority sowed the seeds of future conflict. Regardless, his decision to accede to India has had profound and lasting consequences for the subcontinent, shaping the geopolitics of South Asia for decades to come.

The cease-work by Kolkata's doctors: Are strikes ethical, are they justified?

By: Anita Anand

n September 20, the doctors at Kolkata's R.G. Kar Medical College and Hospital, who had been on strike for well over a month, protesting against the horrific rape and murder of a 31-yearold doctor trainee within the hospital premises on August 9, announced a partial withdrawal of their agitation as a majority of their demands had been met by the West Bengal government. However, they will not work in the Outpatient Also Read -Indranil Banerjie | Nehru, Modi & India's US policies: Striking parallels Advertisement Department (OPD) but only in the emergency and essential services. West Bengal chief minister Mamata Banerjee, senior police officers and the R.G Kar administration have been under heavy fire over the incident. As the situation worsened, the Supreme Court stepped in, asking the doctors to return to work, but they did not. The ongoing demands and discussions of the strikers are about effective security measures in hospitals, while there is an overhaul of the public healthcare delivery mechanism -including the streamlining of the referral system, appointment of health workers and professional patient counsellors, the plugging of admission corruption, and ensuring availability of lifesaving drugs. All these needed changes. Also Read - Manish Tewari | India must be ready for a prolonged LAC standoff During this time, thousands of OPD and some surgery patients have suffered, as only senior doctors and emergency services were in place. According to state government data, of the 70,000 patients seen in government hospitals, the number was down to half. The scheduled surgeries were down to 150 from 400-500 daily. There clearly is suffering. What are the ethical aspects of such a strike? Are they justified? A strike is designed to be disruptive and creates substantial ethical tensions, mostly patient harm. Maika Davies, writing Also Read - Krishna Shastri Devulapalli | I don't know why the mediocre bird sings on the ethical aspects of strikes by medical professionals around the world, noted that in 2015 the UK General Medical Council said that doctors contemplating industrial action must make sure that arrangements are in place to care for their patients and not put them at risk. In India, in response to strike action by doctors in 2010, the Delhi Medical Council said that under no circumstances doctors should resort to strike as it puts patient care in serious jeopardy. Also Read - Anita Katyal | Atishi, as CM, has tough times ahead; Kejriwal shouldn't be underestimated Despite this, doctors in India have repeatedly engaged in strike action, including a nationwide strike in June 2012. Researchers at the Lokmanya Tilak Municipal Medical College in Mumbai recommend that a strike must be a last resort and said that for doctors, patients were of the highest importance. But people must not forget that doctors are also human beings, with a life, family, responsibilities, and bills to pay. Human dignity and respect must be preserved by a doctor towards a patient, and a patient towards the doctor. In recent times, there have been reported attacks against doctors and nurses as patients and their families, dissatisfied with the care they are receiving, are abusive, and even violent. In a study by the Indian Medical Association (IMA), over 75 per cent of doctors faced violence of some kind in the workplace, mostly from patients' relatives. After the August 9 incident, the Indian Medical Association asked Union health minister J.P. Nadda to introduce a special Central law to prevent violence against doctors and to designate hospitals as safe zones. Will more stringent laws help? In April 2020, India introduced a law that recognised violence against healthcare service personnel as a cognisable and nonbailable offence. But like many laws in India, it didn't make an impact due to its unenforceability and the long arm of the law. India's public health system is poorly funded, with improper management due to limited resources and staff, poor training of medical staff, and high healthcare costs. According to government data, there are 3.4 million registered nurses and 1.3 million allied and healthcare professionals, including doctors, in the country. The Indian Journal of Public Health says that at least two million doctors will be needed by 2030. Families often go into debt to pay healthcare costs. Anger and violence against doctors can also be because of inadequate communication skills, or what is called a "bedside manner" in medical parlance, to deal with difficult situations, especially for young resident doctors. Verbal abuse escalates when patients and their relatives are anxious about finances and the treatment of the patient, and young residents are not always trained to handle it. Are strikes justified? Strike action has long been debated in the bioethics literature. Discussions have been passionate and polarised. Despite this, there is still little consensus on whether strike action is justified, and if so, how we justify such action. Justified or not, Kolkata's striking doctors must ask themselves if their legitimate demands can be met, when, and how. Sacking and replacing high-level officials can be the easy thing to do but may not be effective eventually. Checking the corruption and inefficiency of institutions is another ballgame. The agitating doctors' demands, while genuine, need to be better thought out, with a timeline and discussions outside the atmosphere of a strike. Unfortunately, it takes a strike for the government to take note of the inefficiency and corruption in the system and for the doctors to resort to a strike to have their needs and concerns heeded and met. While the agitation is still on, the striking doctors must consider going back fully to work, where no punitive action will be taken against them as they are government employees. The strike, CCTV cameras or security systems may not ensure the safety that the doctors are looking for. Making change is a slow business and a strike makes a mockery of such a process. It's unethical and not justified.

Keeping an eye on life on other planets

By: Vijay Garg

Tot only common people, scientists themselves N have been interested in knowing about alien civilization. But the top scientific institutions are still not able to say anything concrete in this matter. There are thousands of claims of sightings of unidentified objects (UFOs) and flying saucers. But when a top scientist tries to say something on this, it creates more sensation and less concrete is achieved. The reason for this is that these scientists also lack concrete evidence to prove their point.Is. But now ISRO chief has expressed his belief on social media (Youtube) that it is very likely that alien civilizations are more advanced than ours and they are watching us or keeping an eye on us. There is also a strong possibility that creatures from other worlds keep coming to Earth. This is proof that there is life on Earth. He also expressed the fear that life with chemical composition different from Earth may pose a threat to the Earth's inhabitants, that is, aliens may attack us. Although 'ISRO' chief alsoHe has not provided any evidence to support his claims. But when they say that alien civilizations are one to ten thousand years ahead of us, their claims need to be taken seriously. The basis of his claim is that we earthlings have not yet been able to leave any trace of our footsteps beyond our natural satellite, the Moon. But 'aliens', being many times more advanced than us, have the ability to travel far across the universe. If we humans are not able to make any contact or communicate with these aliens, then this lack is due #### to our understanding, knowledge and innovation. Is of. Because it is highly likely that aliens may be constantly trying to contact and communicate with us in their own

at the discussions related to incidents related to UFOs and aliens by separating them from sensationalism and weighing them on the scales of science. American governmentAmong these initiatives, R had also constituted a special committee to investigate flying saucers. Details of 510 incidents of UFO sightings have been placed before the committee for examination, most of which are linked to large balloons flying in the sky. These balloons are considered spying tools of neighboring countries. There may be a spy angle to these balloons, but it is not necessary that there is a spy related matter behind every incident involving UFOs. From the perspective of those who believe in the existence of alien civilizationIf we look at it, it can be said that there are innumerable galaxies in this universe. Therefore, it may be correct according to statistical logic to think that there may be life somewhere in them. However, the answer to the mysteries related to this that scientists around the world have been searching for for the last several decades is that man is alone in the universe. But one reason for not accepting this answer as complete is that apart from cosmic distances, there have been technical limitations in the search for other worlds. The world neither had very powerful telescopes nor such signal detectors. These instruments, which can record every subtle sound coming from space as an attempt to communicate on behalf of a different type of life. The second major flaw has been to remain stuck in the belief that other worlds will be like our Earth and only human-like creatures will live on it. NASA has said that now it will investigate UAP i.e. 'Unidentified Anomalous Phenomena' with the help of modern technology and Artificial Intelligence. According to NASA, this will make it clear that the things that have passed through our solar system and reached Earth, are actually behind them. Who is it. Why is it that no concrete results are being achieved regarding alien civilization and UFOs? A sensible answer to this in the year 2016 6. The research was published in the journal 'Astrobiology'. In this, astronauts Aditya Chopra and Charlie Lineweaver had concluded that there are no conditions suitable for life on other planets beyond Earth. Therefore, leave alone aliens (intelligent alien beings), any kind of life is not possible on them. Even on the planets of the solar system, Mars and Venus, conditions suitable for life developed 400 million years ago. Were there, but even there the environment was not favorable enough for aliens to be born. But our internet is full of video footage of flying saucers or strange types of vehicles crossing the solar system and coming to Earth. It is claimed that due to technical shortcomings, this problem is ours that we are not able to catch and understand these signals coming from billions of light years away.

communicate with us in their own way, but we may not be able to communicate with them due to our limitations. It is believed that whenever the human community living on Earth comes face to face with alien creatures for the first time, it is most likely that we will come to know of those forms of life, which will be completely different from the biological structures of the Earth. It is also possible that then we may find the overall attitude of alien civilizations called aliens to be friendly andWe humans have been estimating the unknown danger for centuries; all those estimates may be overturned in one fell swoop. But until this happens, human civilization can continue to consider aliens and unidentified celestial objects (UFOs) as a threat to itself. Japan had expressed a concern in this regard a few months ago. There, a large group of MPs had described flying saucers (Unidentified Flying Objects or UFOs) as a threat to the country's security in June 2024. Japan's political leadership is concerned that the way drone technology has increased in the world, it is possibleThat UFOs in the form of drones or drones in the form of UFOs pose a new threat to national security. Therefore, it is necessary that the objects called UFOs be thoroughly investigated and their authenticity be ascertained. Some time ago, there was a lot of discussion in America about UFOs and aliens. For example, last year in 2023, the American space agency 'NASA' had said that it advocates looking

The cast of Punjabi movie Jahankilla, including Gurbani Gill and Jobanpreet Singh, says the message of the film is deep

Almost an all-new Punjabi cast, helmed by a Maharashtrian director Vickey Kadam, team Jahankilla was in a jovial mood on the eve of the release of their film. And, why not, cheering them on the premiere night was the real 1983 star - ace cricketer Kapil Dev!

Heaping praise on the cast of the film, Kapil said, "My friend has produced this film and I am here to promote him." The mood in the Elante cinema corridor was that of jubilation and celebration, as cine-goers thronged to get a glimpse of Kapil.

The bold ones beat the crowd to get selfies with the former Indian cricket captain. Chomping on popcorns, Kapil Dev was indulgent with his admirers; a word there, a nod there, he gave company to team Jahankilla.

"Shot in Bahadurgarh Fort, Patiala, the film is titled Jahankilla because it is the training rangroots' entire jahan (world), and is shot in the killa (fort)," says Vickey Kadam, the debut director of the film.

A Maharshtrian, Kadam is not new to the Punjabi industry as he has worked on different projects, including the film Saak that too starred Jobanpreet Singh. "I am pretty comfortable in Punjabi by now. I can understand it fully well, read and write in Roman Punjabi. By my next project, you will see me conversing well in the language," he chuckles. The film has a rather fresh cast — Gurbani Gill, Jashn Kohli, Jeet Singh Panwaar and Akashdeep Singh. Its lead actor Jobanpreet Singh has penned the story. "IT stems from my training days in police. That was the golden period of life," shares Jobanpreet, who quit his police job to pursue his passion for acting. Gurbani plays the character of Simran - Shinda's love interest. "When a rangroot goes for training how his personal family life is affected is what my character brings to the fore."

Director Kadam is very proud of his team. "We have the best in the industry join hands - songs are by famous lyricist Shelle, our DOP is Anshul Chobey, who has done Kesari and Punjab 1984, and background score is by Rohit Kulkarni, who has done Mary Kom. You will see a pan-Indian quality to our movie."

The film's choreographer Samadhan Sargar loved the experience on the sets. "I have done all the five songs in the film. While we have given our best to all of them. my favourite is Sajje Khabbe as it has an infectious fun vibe.'

The motely group is led by Kapil Dev. "Jahankilla is dedicated to our first responders. It comes with a beautiful message for our youngsters too — it's not necessary to go abroad to gain success, if you work hard, you can succeed in our own country," beamed Kapil.

Downloading and watching child pornography crime under POCSO/IT Acts, rules Supreme Court

Top court sets aside Madras HC order that held downloading, watching child pornography is not an offence

NEW DELHI, Sep 23 (Agencies): Storage of child pornographic material is an offence under the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act (POCSO Act), the Supreme Court ruled on Monday.

A three-judge Bench led by Chief Justice DY Chandrachud also suggested to Parliament to make certain changes in the Act.

Disapproving of the use of the word 'child pornography', the top court said Parliament should amend the POCSO Act to refer to such material as 'child sexually abusive and exploitative material'.

"We have suggested an ordinance can be brought in. We have asked all courts not to refer to it as 'child pornography' in any orders," it said.

Pronouncing the verdict for the Bench, Justice JB Pariwala set aside the Kerala High Court's verdict which held that mere downloading and storing of child pornography on one's mobile phone couldn't be considered as an offence under the POCSO Act or the IT Act.

Acting on a petition filed by the Just Rights for Children Alliance, the Bench had in August decided to examine a verdict of the Kerala High Court which ruled that mere downloading and storing of child pornography on one's mobile phone couldn't be considered an offence under the POCSO/IT Acts.

Terming the Kerala HC verdict as "atrocious", it had issued notices to the Kerala Government, Sebin Thomas and another asking them to spell out their respective stand on the petition challenging the high court's ver-

Citing the National Crime Records Bureau (NCRB) data, the petitioner-a coalition of over 120 NGOs - sought to highlight the fact that there has been almost a 2,561 per cent increase in child pornography cases between 2018 and 2022. On behalf of the petitioner, senior counsel HS Phoolka had told the Bench that the Kerala Police had found that several local children in the age group of 8-10 and 15-16 years were involved in the offending sexual Phoolka had said the accused was arrested during Operation P-Hunt-a special drive launched by the Countering Child Sexual Exploitation Team of the Kerala Police functioning under Cyberdome to curb crimes against children.

Ruling that an automatic or accidental downloading of child pornography, i.e., videos of children engaged in sexually explicit act or conduct was not an offence under Section 67B (b) of the IT Act or Section 15(2) of the POCSO Act when evidence showed no specific intent to transmit or distribute such content, the high court had discharged the accused who had allegedly downloaded child pornography on his phone from an app.

The top court had referred to a challenge against a Madras High Court order that said watching child pornographic videos will not by itself attract offences under the POCSO Act. "We have reserved judgment in the Madras High Court order challenge, just wait for it," the CJI told Phoolka.

Kolkata doctor rape-murder: SC to hear suo motu plea on October 1

NEW DELHI, Sep 23 (Agencies): The Supreme Court on Monday said it will hear on October 1 a case it has initiated on its own following the rape and murder of a resident doctor at the RG Kar Medical College and Hospital in Kolkata amid the ongoing protests by doctors in West Bengal.

At the outset of the day's proceedings, a Bench comprising Chief Justice D Y Chandrachud and Justice JB Pardiwala was urged by a counsel appearing for one of the parties that the suo motu case, which is listed for hearing on September 27, be heard next week due to some urgent reasons

"We will list it on hearing on next Tuesday that is October 1," the CJI said.

The top court, on September 17, said it was disturbed by the findings given in a status report filed by the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) in the rape and murder case but refused to divulge the details. It had said any disclosure may jeopardise the ongoing investigation.

It had also sought a status report from the CBI on its probe into financial irregularities allegedly committed by jailed former principal of R G Kar Medical College and Hospital Sandip Ghosh.

It also said the CBI was not "sleeping over" the investigation and it needs to be given time to "unearth the truth." "What the CBI has revealed in the report is really disturbing. What you are flagging is of utmost concern. We ourselves are concerned, the CBI has flagged it for us. We are ourselves disturbed by what we have read," the top court had told a lawyer who claimed discrepancies in the seizure list and sketch of the crime scene.

It had asked the protesting junior doctors in West Bengal to resume work and recorded the assurance from the state government that it will not take any adverse or punitive action against them.

Taking note of a letter written by the father of the deceased, the top court had directed that the "valuable" inputs furnished by him should be duly considered by the investigating officer.

Solicitor General Tushar Mehta, appearing for the CBI, had assured the court that the investigating agency will maintain contact with the parents of the deceased junior doctor and keep them informed about the ongoing probe to assuage their genuine concerns. The medic's body with severe injury marks was found on August 9. A civic volunteer was arrested by the Kolkata Police in connection with the case the following day.

On August 13, the Calcutta High Court ordered the transfer of the probe from the Kolkata Police to the CBI, which started its investigation on August 14.

"We are together at home": Sharad Pawar on nephew Ajit Pawar

MUMBAI, Sep 23 (Agencies): Former Union minister Sharad Pawar on Monday said that he and nephew Ajit Pawar are together as a family, but made it clear that the latter was heading a different political party.

"Gharat tari ekatrach ahet (we are together at home least)," the veteran politician said at a press conference at Chiplun in coastal Konkan region.

He was responding to a query about the demand from "various quarters in the state" that the uncle-nephew duo should come together once again. In July last year, Ajit Pawar broke away from his uncle to join the Eknath Shinde-led government in the state as deputy chief minister. Of late, there has been speculation over his continuation in the ruling alliance.

Asked about Ajit Pawar's recent remarks the decision to make his wife Sunetra Pawar contest the Lok Sabha polls against Supriya Sule in Baramati was a mistake, the veteran politician said, "He is in a different party. Why should we comment on decisions taken by another party?" Asked if the opposition Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) alliance of NCP (SP), Congress and Shiv Sena (UBT) had decided its chef ministerial face, Mr Pawar said, "I don't think that it is an urgent issue at the moment".

When elections were held after the Emergency, Morarji Desai's name as PM candidate was not disclosed before polling, he added.

"Our (MVA) attempt is to give a progressive alternative in Maharashtra with help of other parties like Samajwadi Party and Peasants and Workers Party," he said. "Our observation is that the people of Maharashtra have made up their mind to give us (MVA) a chance in the ensuing elections," he said. Asked about Andhra Chief Minister Chandrababu Naidu's claim that sub-standard ghee with 'animal fat' was used to make prasad laddoos at Tirupati temple during Jaganmohan Reddy's tenure as Chief Minister, Mr Pawar said, "If anything was mixed, it is very wrong and action

Conflict escalates as Israeli military bombs Hezbollah targets in Lebanon

Hezbollah vows to continue fighting until Gaza ceasefire

JERUSALEM, Sep 23 (Agencies): The Israeli military launched its most widespread wave of air strikes against Iran-backed Hezbollah, simultaneously targeting Lebanon's south, eastern Bekaa valley and northern region near Syria in nearly a year of conflict.

Asked by reporters about a possible Israeli ground incursion into Lebanon, Israeli military spokesperson Rear Admiral Daniel Hagari said "we will do whatever is needed" in order to return evacuated residents of northern Israel to their homes safely, a war priority for the Israeli government.

The latest attacks came amid some of the heaviest crossborder exchanges of fire in a conflict raging alongside the war between Israel and Hamas in Gaza.

Hagari called on residents of south Lebanon to keep away from Hezbollah posts.

Hagari said that Hezbollah over the years has stashed weapons, including cruise missiles, in houses and buildings throughout southern Lebanon, and called on residents to stay away from these sites.

Hagari presented in a media briefing an aerial video of what he described as Hezbollah operatives trying to launch cruise missiles from a civilian house in Lebanon, and the subsequent Israeli strike moments before it was launched.

"Hezbollah is endangering you. Endangering you and your families," Hagari said.

He said Israel began striking Hezbollah posts in Lebanon after identifying an intention to fire on Israel.

Israeli warplanes carried out an intense wave of air strikes on towns along Lebanon's southern border and even further north on Monday morning, according to agency witnesses.

Reuters reporters in the southern port city of Tyre could hear warplanes flying low over south-towns and villages in the south and the Bekaa Valley in eastern Lebanon. Footage showed columns of smoke rising over the south.

Israeli Defence Minister Yoav Gallant said operations would continue until it was safe for evacuated people on his side of the border to return - also setting the stage for a long conflict as Iran-backed Hezbollah has vowed to fight on until a ceasefire in the parallel Gaza war. Hezbollah has come under unprecedented pressure since thousands of pagers and walkietalkies used by Hezbollah members exploded last week.

The attack, an unprecedented breach of security, was widely blamed on Israel, which has not confirmed or denied responsibility.

The conflict - which has escalated sharply in the past week - has raged since Hezbollah opened a second front against Israel, saying it was acting in support of Palestinians facing an Israeli offensive further south in Gaza.

South Korea threatens military response to North Korean 'trash balloons'

SEOUL, Sep 23 (Agencies): South Korea's Joint Chiefs of Staff said Monday that Seoul may respond militarily to any casualties caused by North Korea's launching of so-called "trash balloons" across the shared border, the state media Yonhap News Agency reported.

"North Korea's gray zone provocations are continuing and are causing inconvenience and anxiety to the public, so we have summarized the military's position to date and delivered a message," Lee Sung-joon, a spokesperson for South Korea's Joint Chiefs of Staff, said, as quoted by Yonhap.

"This is an internationally shameful and petty act that creates discomfort and anxietv among our people and is a low-level act intended to incite conflict."

Cholera is spreading in Sudan as fighting between rival generals shows no sign of abating

CAIRO, Sep 23 (Agencies): Cholera is spreading in war-torn Sudan, killing at least 388 people and sickening about 13,000 others over the past two months, health authorities said, as more than 17 months of fighting between the military and a notorious paramilitary group shows no sign of abating.

The disease is spreading in areas devastated by recent heavy rainfall and floods especially in eastern Sudan where millions of war displaced people sheltered.

The casualties from cholera included six dead and about 400 sickened over the weekend, according to report by the Health Ministry. The disease was detected in 10 of the country's 18 provinces with the eastern Kassala and al-Qadarif provinces the most hit, the ministry said.

Indo-Lanka multifaceted

Cholera is a fastdeveloping, highly contagious infection that causes diarrhea, leading to severe dehydration and possible death within hours when not treated, according to the World Health Organization. It is transmitted through the ingestion of contaminated food or water.

The disease is not uncommon in Sudan. A previous major outbreak left at least 700 dead and sickened about 22,000 in less than two months in 2017.

Sudan was plunged into chaos in April last year when simmering tensions between the military and a powerful paramilitary group, the Rapid Support Forces, exploded into open warfare across the country. The fighting, which wrecked the capital, Khartoum, and other urban areas has been marked by atrocities including mass rape and ethnically motivated killings that amount to war crimes and crimes against humanity, especially in the western region of Darfur, according to the United Nations and international rights groups

It has killed at least 20,000 people and wounded tens of thousands others, according to the U.N. However, rights groups and activists say the toll was much higher. The war also has created the world's largest displacement crisis. More than 13 million people have been forced to flee their homes since the fighting began, according to the International Organization for Migration. They include over 2.3 million who fled to neighboring countries.

Devastating seasonal floods and cholera have compounded the Sudanese misery. At least 225 people have been killed and about 900 others were injured in the floods, the Health Ministry said. Critical infrastructure has been washed away, and more than 76,000 houses have been destroyed or damaged, it said.

Famine was also confirmed in July in the Zamzam camp for displaced people, which is located about 15 kilometers (10 miles) from North Darfur's embattled capital of al-Fasher, according to global experts from the Famine Review Committee. About 25.6 million people — more than half of Sudan's population — will face acute hunger this year, they warned. Fighting, meanwhile, rages in al-Fasher, the last major city in Darfur that is still held by the military. The RSF has been attempting to retake it since the start of the year. Last week, the paramilitary force and its allied Arab militias launched a new attack on the city. The military said its forces, aided by rebel groups, managed to repel the attack and kill hundreds of RSF fighters, including two senior commanders.

Around 40 per cent cities, regions not meeting CO<sub>2</sub> emission cut goals: Survey

NEW YORK, Sep 23 (Agencies): More than 40% of major companies, cities and regions have still not set any targets to cut greenhouse gas emissions, according to an annual "stocktake" released on Monday to gauge global progress in the fight against catastrophic climate change.

While more governments and enterprises have issued net-zero pledges since last year, their attention has been further diverted by wars, elections and economic challenges, leaving a significant "commitment gap", said Net Zero Tracker, a coalition of research groups at the University of Oxford.

As countries prepare to submit new 2035 climate targets to the United Nations, policymakers and company boardrooms are struggling to translate long-term goals into concrete action, with transition plans still lacking robustness and detail, the researchers said.

"A common theme throughout this report is the persistent lack of integrity across the board," said John Lang, who heads Net Zero Tracker's Energy and Climate Intelligence Unit.

The report looked at net-zero commitments and action plans from 198 countries, 706 sub-national regions, 1,186 cities and nearly 2,000 publicly-listed companies.

They found that while 1,750 entities out of more than 4,000 had made formal net-zero pledges, nearly 1,700 hadn't set targets of any kind.

Among the listed firms, just under 60% had set net-zero targets, up 23% since last year's report, with a significant rise in pledges from Asia.

The total number of companies with no emissions targets dropped to 495, from 734 last year. They include electric vehicle makers Tesla TSLA.O and BYD 002594.SZ, Nintendo 7974.T and Berkshire Hathaway BRKa.N, Net Zero Tracker said.

The report cited Costa Rica, Volvo VOLVb.ST and Google owner Alphabet GOOGL.O as examples of "good practice" when it comes to implementing net-zero pledges.

However, only 5% of regions, cities and companies met all of Net Zero Tracker's criteria for "robustness" which include having detailed plans to phase out fossil fuels, it said.

Around half of the regions, cities and companies have failed to set targets for non-CO2 greenhouse gases like methane, and many firms also failed to account for emissions across their entire value chains or clarify how much they will rely on offsets to meet targets.

Mahajan Sewa Sangh celebrates Maharaja Hari Singh's Birthday

Top News Report

JAMMU, Sep 23: The Mahajan Sewa Sangh (MSS) honored the birthday of Maharaja Hari Singh, who was born on September 23, 1895, at Amar Mahal, Jammu. The palace, adorned in memory of his father, Maharaja Amar Singh, commemorates the legacy of leadership and progressive reforms initiated by Maharaja Hari Singh after he ascended the throne in 1925. Maharaja Hari Singh's reign marked significant advancements for the people of Jammu and Kashmir (J&K). He made primary education compulsory, prohibited child marriage, and ensured that places of worship were open to all, including those described by Mahatma Gandhi as 'Harijans.' His efforts to abolish untouchability and establish a High Court in J&K—unique among British Indian states-were notable milestones. Neeraj Dewan, President of MSS, praised

Maharaja Hari Singh's vision, highlighting his commitment to national unity. Dewan recalled the Maharaja's impactful statement at the 1931 Round Table Conference in London, where he asserted, "I am Indian first and then a Maharaja of J&K," in response to a challenge from the British Crown. This stance, which resonated deeply with Indian aspirations for freedom, placed him at odds with colonial powers. The celebration featured addresses from various senior members of MSS, intellectuals, and historians, reflecting on the Maharaja's enduring legacy in shaping a modern and inclusive society in J&K. The festivities served as a reminder of his significant contributions to the region's historical and cultural development As J&K continues to evolve, the ideals set forth by Maharaja Hari Singh remain relevant, emphasizing the importance of education, equality, and national integrity.

Singh said that the new Sainik schools are being set up under the PPP model.

"The development of education under the PPP model is appropriate because it will combine the strengths of both private and public sectors and provide the best education to the coming generation," he said.

India has always been a knowledgebased society and not just spiritually and philosophically. Attention was also given to subjects such as science, mathematics, astronomy, grammar, dance and music, he added.

Singh said many governments have changed since independence and all have worked on the basis of their policies but everyone had one goal -? ensuring holistic development of the new generation.

"The focus has been on how to prepare a new and empowered generation. Today, when we are trying to give a new direction to society through the new education policy, I firmly believe that Sainik schools will give fresh impetus to this effort," he said.

Sainik schools don't just give bookish knowledge to students but also try to inculcate commitment towards values in them. These schools instil values like discipline, patriotism and courage in their students, he said.

"The all-round development of the students' personalities due to these values naturally inspires them to take the country forward," he added.

CVC flags 34 major cases of non-compliance by govt depts in acting against 'Corrupt' officials

"Non-acceptance of the Commission's advice vitiates the vigilance process and weakens the impartiality of the vigilance administration," said the probity watchdog's recent report.

Giving details of a case of non-compliance of its advice by the coal ministry, the CVC said officials, including a project officer, a chief manager, three managers and a director of the Bharat Coking Coal Ltd (BCCL) were found responsible for irregularities in foreclosing, re-tendering and awarding of a contract for hiring of heavy earth-moving machinery (HEMM).

The commission had in August 2018 tendered its first stage advice for initiation of "major penalty proceedings against 01 Project Officer, 01 Chief manager and 03 Managers of BCCL and other officials involved in the case".

Aggrieved by the penalty imposed by the disciplinary authority, the project officer, the chief manager, three managers and director preferred appeal before the respective appellate authorities, who exonerated all the officials through their orders issued between June 2022 and June 2023.

"Exoneration of the officials from charges is a major deviation from the Commission's advice," the report said.

"In case of SBI, it said, a regional business office of the bank had incurred huge expenditure in shifting/renovation/repair work and purchase of fixed assets of new/ existing branches without following the prescribed procedure." The expenditure for a particular work was split into parts to keep

The appellate authority also considered their "lapses" as serious in nature and rejected appeals of both the officials, the CVC report noted.

However, the review committee "even after observing lapses on their part", modified the penalty to administrative warning via its order issued in September 2022.

Citing the case of the DJB, the report said it was noticed that during execution of certain work, irregularities like acceptance of incomplete/sub-standard work, booking of extra material, overpayment and bogus payment to the contractor had allegedly taken place, causing "huge monetary loss" to the government exchequer.

The commission had tendered first stage advice for initiation of major penalty proceedings against the junior engineer (JE), which was imposed by the disciplinary authority through its order issued in June 2022.

Aggrieved by the penalty imposed by the disciplinary authority, the JE preferred an appeal before the appellate authority, which retained the order of the disciplinary authority.

The JE then preferred a revision petition before the revisionary authority, which modified the "major penalty" into "minor penalty" through its order dated July 3, 2023

"Imposition of minor penalty by the revisionary authority is a deviation from Commission's advice," the report said.

In the case of the Delhi government, it said "gross misconduct" was observed in awarding a contract to a private firm for engagement of manpower by violating the guidelines issued by the Department of Expenditure and the CVC.

"The tender was awarded to a private firm without obtaining approval of the competent authority and by ignoring the fact that the firm did not have the required licenses," according to the report.

The commission had in August 2021 advised initiation of major penalty proceedings against an administrative officer and other officials involved in the cases.

The disciplinary authority, in July last year, dropped the article of charges served upon the administrative officer, the report said, adding that it "is a major deviation from the Commission's advice"

He is the same leader (Omar) who until a few days would call Apni Party a B-Team of BJP," he said. Er Rashid said that Omar has lost ground and is resorting to cheap means of politics. "He is begging for votes only to become an MLA. At Ganderbal, he removed his cap to seek votes and in Budgam he is thanking the BJP's B-Team leader," Er Rashid said. He said that NC is having the lust for power as proved in the past. "NC founder Sheikh Muhammad Abdullah launched a plebiscite movement and was lodged in jail for 22 years. When he was arrested he was a Prime Minister," said Er Rashid, adding that "When Sheikh was released, he agreed to become a Chief Minister of the State where he was a PM. He was the one who would call Congress people insects of gutter but he joined hands with the same people only for power."

Er Rashid said NC leaders be it Dr Farooq Abdullah or Omar Abdullah have only one agenda "Power, Power and Power."

Taking a dig at senior BJP leader Tarun Chug for claiming that some leaders from NC would meet him in the dead of the night, Er Rashid said: "The BJP leaders must name and shame these leaders. Why is he shying away? If he is speaking the truth, he should name those who are meeting him in the dark. Why is he triggering infighting among Kashmiris," Er Rashid asked.

Buffer stock sale upped to control onion prices after export duty removal

NEW DELHI, Sep 23 (Agencies): The government has intensified its efforts to check onion prices by stepping up the sale of buffer stock in wholesale markets, following a spike in retail prices after the recent removal of export duty. Consumer Affairs Secretary Nidhi Khare on Monday said the Centre had begun offloading onions from its buffer stock in wholesale markets of Delhi and other key cities, with plans to expand subsidised retail sales nationwide.

"We anticipated a price surge after lifting the export duty. With our 4.7 lakh tonne buffer stock and increased kharif sowing area, we expect to keep onion prices in check," Khare told mediapersons. The government plans to increase retail sales of onions at a subsidised rate of Rs 35 per kg across India, focusing on cities where prices exceed the national average

Official data showed retail onion price in Delhi at Rs 55 per kg on September 22, up from Rs 38 per kg a year ago. Prices in Mumbai and Chennai have reached Rs 58 and Rs 60 per kg, respectively. Since September 5, the government has been selling onions at Rs 35 per kg through mobile vans and outlets of NCCF and NAFED in Delhi and other state capitals.

Khare expressed optimism about the upcoming kharif onion crop, citing significantly higher acreage compared to last year. "Arrivals will begin next month, and we foresee no production concerns."she said. The secretary also addressed other commodity prices.

On edible oils, she acknowledged a price rise following recent import duty hikes, explaining the move was to protect domestic farmers.

EU launches WTO challenge against China dairy probe

BRUSSELS, Sep 23 (Agencies): The EU on Monday launched a WTO challenge against a Chinese anti-subsidy investigation into imports of European dairy product, in an escalating trade row between Beijing and Brussels. Beijing announced its probe in August after the European Union unveiled a plan to hit Chinese electric vehicles with hefty tariffs. "Today, the (European) Commission launched a consultation request at the World Trade Organization, challenging China's initiation of an anti-subsidy investigation against imports of certain dairy products from the EU," the EU's executive arm said.

"The EU's action was prompted by an emerging pattern of China initiating trade defence measures, based on questionable allegations and insufficient evidence, within a short period of time." it said. The Chinese investigation covers a range of items from fresh cheese and curd to blue cheese, including some milk and cream.

The Chinese probe takes aim at subsidies provided to the EU's 27 member states under the Common Agricultural Policy, but also national subsidy plans in Ireland, Austria, Belgium, Italy, Croatia, Finland, Romania and the Czech Republic. cies): A blood test could help identify children at risk of conditions such as diabetes and heart disease because of being obese, by looking beyond cholesterol and assessing a "broader range of lipid molecules," according to a new study.

Lipids have been traditionally thought to be fatty acids in the body-either 'good' or 'bad' cholesterol, or triglycerides, which circulate in the bloodstream and are the most common type of fats in the body. However, the researchers, including those from the King's College London, UK, have found that the picture is more complex.

They analysed blood samples of over 1,300 obese, overweight and normal-weight children and identified new lipid molecules which contribute to health risks like blood pressure, but are weight

The findings, published in the journal 'Nature Medicine', contest the common idea that cholesterol is a leading cause of obesity-related complications in children, including fatty liver, the team said.

They suggested that the blood test could help doctors detect early signs of the disease in children and direct them towards the right treatment.

"For decades, scientists have relied on a classification system for lipids that have split them into good and bad cholesterol. but now with a simple blood test we can assess a much broader range of lipid molecules that could serve as vital early warning signs for illness." lead author Cristina Legido-Quigley, a group leader in Systems Medicine at the King's College, London, said.

tial to be an entirely new way to evaluate someone's personal risk of disease and by studying how to change lipid molecules in the body, we could even prevent metabolic diseases like diabetes altogether," Legido-Quigley added.

For their analysis, the researchers used a technique called mass spectrometry, recent advancements in which have enabled the mapping of a single molecule and its internal structures.

The team also looked at another 186 children receiving obesity management and analysed changes in their lipid molecules over a vear-long period.

"Using mass spectrometrybased lipidomics, we report an increase in ceramides, alongside a decrease in lysophospholipids and omega-3 fatty acids with obesity metabolism," the Ceramides and phospholipids were linked with insulin resistance and cardiometabolic risk. Among the 186 children, the authors found reduced levels of ceramides, phospholipids and triglycerides, indicating that addressing obesity could partially restore a healthy lipid profile in children and adolescents.

They added that understanding which lipids need to be targeted for obesity treatment in children was key to prevent the condition from advancing to severe complications.

According to the World Health Organisation, more than 390 million children and adolescents aged 5-19 years were overweight in 2022.

This was found to have risen dramatically from just eight per cent in 1990 to 20 per cent in 2022, affecting both girls and boys almost equally.

Study shows antidepressants may improve brain function ments, so that the less

NEW DELHI, Sep 23 (Agencies): A class of drugs that are commonly prescribed to treat depression, and anxiety may also help improve brain function and memory, claimed a study.

The study, published in the journal Biological Psychiatry, showed that Selective Serotonin Reuptake Inhibitors (SSRI) antidepressants have the potential to improve certain cognitive functions, such as verbal memory.

Verbal memory is the ability to remember words, sentences and stories presented through language.

Serotonin is often described as a 'feel good' chemical, and higher levels of serotonin circulating in the brain contribute to a sense of well-being, and can ease clinical depression in most sufferers.

Researchers from the Copenhagen Universitv Hospital in the Netherlands measured brain function in 90 patients before and after taking the SSRI escitalopram daily for eight weeks.

The team scanned the participant's brain to measure the quantity of the serotonin receptor, the 5HT4 receptor. The patients were also given a series of tests to measure mood and cognitive abilities.

About 40 patients were rescanned to measure the quantity of 5HT4 receptor in the brain.

The results showed that the levels of 5HT4 receptor had dropped by around 9 per cent in the brain and the mood of the patients also improved. Further cognitive tests showed improvethe 5HT4 receptor had changed, the better the cognitive outcome. This phenomenon was particularly prominent for the ability to recall words, the researchers said.

SSRI medication may be an "important pro-cognitive target to consider in optimising outcomes of antidepressant treatment," said researcher Vibeke Dam at the Copenhagen University Hospital.

Dam added that the findings "reinforce the idea that serotonin is crucial to mood improvement".

The team also called for further research. The study was presented at ongoing the European College of Neuropsychopharmacology Conference in Milan, Italy.

London, UK, said.

NEW DELHI, Sep 23 (Agencies): Older adults who experience dizziness or light-headedness are 60 per cent more likely have a fall, which is one of the leading causes of death and injury for the age group, according to a study. Researchers reviewed 29 published studies, involving over one lakh participants, and found a "conclusive link between older adults experiencing spells of dizziness and a dramatically elevated risk of falling.' Dizziness is not just a normal part of ageing and has been confirmed as an independent predicting factor used to describe sensations such as vertigo, imbalance and disorientation.

In a smaller group of seven studies, the researchers found that elderly people experiencing dizziness were at double the likelihood of falling more than once in the future. The findings are published in the journal Age and Ageing. "Our study conclusively shows that older people with dizziness are at high risk of experiencing falls," senior author

Toby Ellmers, from the Department of Brain Sciences at Imperial College London, said. Further, the researchers said that even though dizziness is common, it is caused in distinct ways, such as a fall in blood pressure due to standingreferred to as orthostatic hypotension. There are specific treatments and cures, they added. The authors stressed that dizziness should not be viewed as a 'normal' part of ageing.

1st Test: Jayasuriya takes five to lead Sri Lanka to 1-0 series lead vs New Zealand

GALLE, Sep 23 (Agencies): Star spinner Prabath Jayasuriya picked a superb fivewicket haul to help Sri Lanka secure a 63-run victory over New Zealand in the opening Test match in Galle, taking a 1-0 lead in the two-match series on Monday. Jayasuriya's 5-wicket helped the hosts bowl out New Zealand for 211, successfully defending a target of 275.

New Zealand faced a tough challenge needing 68 runs on the final morning, but their hopes were dashed early as Rachin Ravindra, the key player, was dismissed quickly.

Zealand required substantial partnerships, but despite starts from Kane Williamson, Tom Latham, and Tom Blundell, none could carry on. Ravindra's valiant 92 stood out, but it wasn't enough. Jayasuriya was the star of the show with figures of 5 for 68, while fellow spinner Ramesh Mendis also played a crucial role, picking up 3 for 83. After winning the toss and opting to bat, Sri Lanka faced early difficulties, finding themselves at 106/4. However, Kamindu Mendis' brilliant century steadied the innings and, with contributions from the lower order, Sri Lanka posted a challenging first-innings total of over 300.

New Zealand responded positively at the top of the order, but Sri Lanka's spin attack dismantled their middle and lower order, restricting them to a slender firstinnings lead of 35 runs. In the second innings. Sri Lanka batted steadily to set a target of 275 which proved too steep for the visitors Despite New Zealand's determined chase, Jayasuriya's exceptional spell sealed the win for Sri Lanka, securing an unassailable lead in the series. # Arsenal boss Mikel Arteta expects 100 PL red cards after Trossard's sending off

Arsenal manager Mikel Arteta predicts 100 Premier League games will see sending off this season, following Leandro Trossard's red card in his side's 2-2 draw with Manchester City.

LONDON, Sep 23 (Agencies): Arsenal manager Mikel Arteta has voiced his frustration over the controversial sending off of Leandro Trossard during Arsenal's dramatic 2-2 draw with Manchester City, predicting that this season could see "100 Premier League games" affected by similar dismissals. Referee Michael Oliver showed the Belgian winger a second yellow card for delaying the restart by kicking the ball away just before half-time.

The first of Trossard's two yellow cards came after a foul on City's Savinho in the 33rd minute. However, the incident that led to his dismissal came shortly after, as he kicked the ball away following a foul call, a decision which drew sharp criticism from Arteta. The incident evoked memories of Declan Rice's red card against Brighton & Hove Albion last month, where the Arsenal midfielder was similarly punished for kicking the ball away. Arteta, visibly frustrated in his post-match press conference, declined to delve deeply into the specifics of the decision. "I prefer not to comment," the Spaniard said. "I've seen it and it's that obvious, so I'll leave it to you guys. I was already in big trouble trying to solve what happened on the pitch. It's not my problem to solve what happens off the pitch.'

it's not necessary to comment on it. It's the second time. I'm expecting 100 Premier League games to be 10 against 11 or even nine vs 10 this season Let's see.' Despite holding a 2-1 lead at the time of Trossard's dismissal, Arsenal were unable to hold out for all three points, as substitute John Stones netted a 98thminute equaliser for City. The draw keeps Pep Guardiola's side top of the Premier League, while Arsenal remain fourth, two points behind the reigning champions.

In the aftermath of the red card, Arteta was forced to make a halftime change, bringing on Ben White to shore up his defence in place of Bukayo Saka. White, a surprise absentee from the starting lineup, had been dealing with fitness concerns but was called upon in the wake of Trossard's sending off.

"Yeah, we didn't want to play him that long, but we had to," Arteta explained. "I spoke to him yesterday and I wanted to protect him. He's not going to ever tell you that he's not fit. He will run through a brick wall for you. The intention was not to use him today. But I'm very

Sri Lanka took just 29 balls to wrap up the game, having always been in control. New Zealand's turning point came on day three, when they squandered a strong position at 255 for 4, failing to capitalize and take a significant first-innings lead.

Chasing 275 in the final innings, New in Galle, begins on Thursday.

When asked about a potential double standard regarding City's Jeremy Doku, who was not carded for a similar offence earlier in the match, Arteta was pointed in his response: "That's what I'm saying. It's obvious that grateful because he performed extremely well."

The match saw Manchester City initially take the lead through Erling Haaland before Riccardo Calafiori, making his first Premier League start, equalised for Arsenal with a stunning long-range effort. Gabriel then gave the Gunners a 2-1 lead with a header, only for City to claw back with Stones' lat.

Kuldeep Yadav must play Kanpur Test against Bangladesh: Sanjay Manjrekar

NEW DELHI, Sep 23 (Agencies): Former India cricket Saniav Manirekar wants the Indian team management to include Kuldeep Yadav in India's playing XI for the upcoming second Test against Bangladesh in Kanpur. Manjrekar, speaking after India's victory in the first Test, expressed disappointment over Kuldeep's exclusion in Chennai and highlighted the spinner's value in Indian conditions.

Kuldeep, who has featured in 12 Tests since his debut in 2017, has amassed 53 wickets with consistent performances in key series, including a notable display against England earlier this year. In that series, he claimed 19 wickets in four matches and contributed crucial lower-order runs. However, despite his proven track record, the leftarm spinner was omitted from the first Test in Chennai, with India opting for a pace-heavy attack that included Jasprit Bumrah, Mohammed Siraj, and Akash Deep.

sion, suggesting that India missed an opportunity by not playing Kuldeep, even though the Chennai pitch was expected to favor seamers early on. "I feel Kuldeep Yadav should not be dropped so easily. Even if it was not a turner, India would have benefited from playing him in Chennai because seamers get help for just one or one-anda-half days on an Indian pitch. It starts supporting spinners after that, and when you have a bowler like Kuldeep Yadav, you should not keep him out this easily," Manjrekar said in an interview with ESPNcricinfo. As India prepared for the Kanpur Test, Manjrekar urged the team management to reconsider Kuldeep's omission, irrespective of the pitch conditions. The cricketer-turned-commentator emphasized that even if the surface appears green initially, spinners often come into play after the first few hours, making Kuldeep a valuable asset alongside the other frontline spinners. "India should go with this approach in Kanpur. Even if it's a green top and the sun is out, they should keep in mind that the green top will be just for the first few hours, and Siraj and Bumrah are enough for that. When you have three proven spinners, you should play all of them," Manjrekar added.

Kuldeep's ability to trouble batters with his wrist spin and variations could be a decisive factor in Kanpur, where conditions might favor India's spin attack as the match progresses. Whether the Indian team opts for a change in strategy will be seen as the series finale draws closer.

India lead the two-match Test series 1-0 after a comprehensive win in Chennai. For the second and final Test in Kanpur, some changes are expected in the playing XI, with Manjrekar and several others backing Kuldeep for a return.
